“POST-IT NOTES”

from Larry Inchiostro

Special thanks to Liz Landes and Sally Naumann for providing the best winter show series that I can ever remember. A fantastic time was had by all participants. The NEC is such a fantastic facility.

No one would ever believe that in February you could have 64 riders in an Adult Walk Trot class. What a turnout!

Your show bill was fantastic. It had something for everyone. I personally enjoyed the addition of the two reining classes.

The purpose of this booklet is to achieve greater attendance at all horse shows in the area.

This is intended to be a source for the amateur, novice, and youth riders to go to in order to find the right people in the area who will help them improve their horseman skills.

The professionals listed in this booklet all know the importance of the basic fundamentals of proper, safe training that will encourage more riders to participate in showing.

This booklet will be available to any show promoter as a handout at their shows or as a mailer to send out with their show bill.

Each publication will be updated as needed. If you are a professional horseman in the area and want a free listing in this booklet, please contact me.

I'd like to start with a little background about myself. I have been training for 9 years, in all disciplines. My husband and I have lived in Moscow Mills, MO since we got married in 2007. I train out of our 9 stall barn, with an indoor and an outdoor arena. We have access to miles of trails to make sure your horse gets the best learning experience possible.

When building anything, a house for example, you always start with a good foundation. I feel that it should be the same way when you work with a horse. Start with the basics on the ground and work up from there. When I work with your horse, it will learn the basics, the foundations of riding, so well that it will always carry what it learned with it.

I only work with 3 to 4 horses at one time. I feel I can give each horse the time and the program that is needed to accomplish what we are all looking for. I want each horse I work with to have the least stressful learning experience possible. I also want each horse to enjoy working. I have found that horses that enjoy what they are doing are easier to work with, both for me and the owner.

I am a carded judge in NSBA, APHA, IBHA, POA, ARHA, ApHC, PtHA, and PBHA for over 25 years. Since many of my weekends are taken up judging, my horse training and coaching students at horse shows is limited to a local level.

I am proficient in all disciplines of the horse world. I have trained National and World Champions and Top Ten Honor Roll horses from over fence classes to team roping. I've coached Top Ten Riders in APHA and APHC in Showmanship to Hunter Over Fences. I have ridden and coached the High Point Horse and Youth Horse in ARHA in Ranch Riding 2006, World Champing Youth Trail ARHA 2007, High Point Rookie Amateur ARHA 2008 plus numerous other MPHA Year End Award Winners over the years.

I enjoy working with beginner riders of any age and any type of horse. "Flash" is a National Show Horse I have trained. Flash has competed in the local horse shows for a number of years with several different youth riders and has been a consistent winner.

I train out of Bryan Island Stables in Bridgeton, Missouri and I am willing to travel to other barns.

Drew Training Stables is a full service dressage training operation located in Troy, MO, less than an hour from St. Louis. We offer boarding, training and lessons for students of all ages and experience levels.

Liz has been training horses professionally since graduating from Stephens College in 1992 with a degree in Equestrian Science. She works with many breeds of horses, from youngsters to dressage horses in international levels of competition. As many as 20 horses are under her supervision at home and many more receive guidance at other area barns where she teaches. Many breeds are represented at DTS: Warmbloods, Thoroughbreds, Quarter Horses, American Saddlebreds, Arabians, and Paints. Liz also has experience training gaited horses, including Tennessee Walking Horses, Foxtrotters, and Paso Finos.

The "Drew Crew" attends several shows each year with both horses and riders earning regional and national honors. Liz was awarded her United States Dressage Federation Silver Medal in 2007 and her partner, Jordache, owned by Stacy Barnhart of Defiance, MO, was Reserve Champion FEI Horse of the Year in 2006 and 2007, both with Missouri Horse Show Association and the St. Louis Area Dressage Society.

BARN HOURS: We are open Monday through Friday from 8am to 8pm - Saturday and Sunday from 9am to 5pm.

"If you're not satisfied, we're not satisfied"

Long time AQHA leading breeder, Jim Dudley, focuses on breeding and training quality performance and pleasure horse prospects. The motto, "If you're not satisfied, we're not satisfied", serves as a constant reminder of the quality and integrity that exists at Jim Dudley Quarter Horses.

Throughout the past several decades, the Dudley breeding program has been responsible for many AQHA and APHA World and Congress Champions.

At the core of this success are two icons of the Quarter Horse industry - AQHA All Time Leading Sires, Scotch Bar Time and Investment Asset. The broodmare band at Jim Dudley Quarter Horses continues to represent these two outstanding horses. Jim has always had a Reiner or two (or three) in the barn. The addition of several performance bred broodmares and their foals now grace the pastures as well.

Jim and his partner, Missy Hood, warmly welcome all visitors to their facility located just outside of Columbia, Missouri.

- Training and lessons — all breeds
- Western, Hunt Seat, Dressage, Saddle Seat
- Indoor arena well insulated and designed for maximum air circulation
- Twelve by twelve stalls with private tack lockers
- Stalls are open and airy creating a comfortable environment.

We teach our students basic riding skills necessary to compete in any discipline at any level, for trail riding, exhibiting in shows, or training. 4H, FFA, and Scouting groups are welcome.

We cater to the beginner rider and their families with private, group, and after school lesson programs. We also have summer camp opportunities as well as a "Mommy Camp" program.

Mommy Camp provides a learning atmosphere for parents who have found themselves with a horse crazy child and not a lot of horse knowledge. We engage the parents so that the child can become an even more successful rider.

Austin Roper, owner/manager, has over 50 years, training, teaching, and showing.

We are ten minutes North of Troy, just off Hwy 61.

At Ridge Creek, we specialize in teaching children and beginners of all ages. After years of riding, showing, and attending William Woods University for my equestrian degree, my mother and I decided to share our experiences with others. At Ridge Creek, we feel that children are our future. The more help we give them, the brighter their future will be. We take the time and patience necessary to allow each student to develop to his or her maximum abilities.

Whether it be the first ride for someone, overcoming some fear, or getting back into the horse world, we teach self-esteem, responsibility, the joy of winning, the art of losing, and good sportsmanship as part of our riding program. We focus on communication between horse and rider, as good communication increases anyone's riding abilities. We believe that a good center of balance will help any student, whether it's pleasure riding, speed events, reining, cutting, gaited horses, or just plain trail riding. We work with students on Ridge Creek lesson horses or their own horses. Ridge Creek lesson horses come in all breeds and ages. We have Fox Trotters, Thoroughbreds, Quarter types and others from 5 years to 31 years old. We look forward to sharing many wonderful riding experiences together. Available on site as well is our full line tack store All About Tack. We carry everything for horses and western decor.

Growing up in North Carolina, I was a little girl that was obsessed with horses. I started taking riding lessons, learning how to ride hunter/jumpers, when I was 12 years old and continued riding with that farm until I graduated from high school. While going to college my interest changed from the Hunters to Western Pleasure, so I began working for a trainer that specialized more on the AQHA Western and Hunter Under Saddle Horses, where we traded knowledge. I taught his Hunter Under Saddle horses how to jump and he taught me how to train a pleasure horse. I eventually began training for the public, riding Hunters, Western Pleasure Horses, and helping Youth and Amateurs.

I now work for Mills Quarter Horses in Marthasville, MO. I've trained, or assisted in training, several top tens at the Congress. These include Christina Kreisch, a Lake St Louis native and A Well Oiled Machine, a top ten at the AQHA World Show, a 3x NSBA World Champion that was bred and raised by Mills Quarter Horses. I've also assisted with numerous circuit champions including Christina Kreisch and Kim Holder from O'Fallon.

We are now offering training, boarding, and lessons to the public. We have horses available for sale at all times. Visit our website at Millsquarterhorses.com for more information and pictures.

On a personal note, my husband Josh and I just welcomed a beautiful baby boy into our family, Jackson Taylor Moran.

Pat and Mona Prater operate an active training facility just east of Fulton, Missouri. Their expertise includes training and maintaining the all-around horse, teaching and coaching beginner riders of all ages, starting young horses, and operating a full-service horse care facility.

Mona gives the majority of lessons. She has coached youth to World Championships and Reserve World Championships in both the American Ranch Horse Association (ARHA) and the Appaloosa Horse Club (ApHC). Her own accomplishments include many awards in both the hunt seat and western disciplines. She encourages the youth she works with to excel in showmanship, horsemanship, equitation, as well as pleasure, and trail, and maintains an all-around focus in her program. Mona is a carded horse show judge and has judged on the local and national levels.

Pat has had numerous championships in both the horse show and the rodeo arenas. He starts young horses, works with older problem horses, and runs the daily operations at the training facility. He is a trained and experienced farrier. Pat assists with coaching duties in cattle events.

The Praters understand the value of the local and open show experience in encouraging their students to get into the show ring and have fun with their horses. They are active members of the Sho-Me Circuit in Central Missouri, and also bring horses to the Mid-Rivers Saddle Club shows, NEC shows, and other open and fun shows in the Warren-ton, Troy, and St. Charles areas.
